Studio RED Architects

“You have to sit down and talk with the users, participants, staff, and owners about what they really need. By doing this, we were enlightened to the participants’ focus on texture, sensitivity to light, longing for warmth. With this information we could design the center that worked for them.”

The Amazing Place is unique—a day care facility for adults in early stages of Alzheimer’s and dementia. After meeting with the staff and participants to find what did and did not work in the previous building, Bill Neuhaus, FAIA, LEED®AP, began to understand the impact the building could and should have on the program. Colors and patterns on the interior of the building were the results of meetings with the trained staff and gerontology and NeuroPsych professionals. The healing garden provides a warm, active space to participate in common activities. The Chapel provides a retreat, the Club room, fellowship. Taking this design approach, Studio RED was able to seek LEED Certification and create the healthy environment they need.
